Subject: 1 New Beginnings

Well, today I decided to jump back in and build another 300 sq. in. Cloudster for the Speed 400 event! It is too good of a flyer for me not to have one for this year's SAM Champs, if I can get it done in time. Since I have now given up on getting the first one back, I am going to try to build a second one in a much shorter time using my own construction reports as a guide. I will not be documenting the construction of this second Cloudster with detailed reports, but I will send out a few progress pictures from time to time just so you will know how the work is progressing. This afternoon I laid up the left side of the fuselage as shown below. Of course I will be ordering a new ESC, a 1350 mAh Li-Po battery, some more connectors, Prop Spinner/adapter, and a new 2.4 GHz Futaba receiver plus two Hitec HS-55 servos early next week.....
