Subject: 28 J-3 Cub Building the Right Wing

Today, after spending all day yesterday correcting the root rib angle, I finally got started on building the right wing. The picture below how far along I was able to get. Both the finished left wing panel and the partially finished right wing panel are shown together.

Here is another shot of the two wing panels. This J-3 Cub has a healthy wing span of 35-1/2". I plan to continue working on the right wing panel tomorrow and hopefully finish it.....Tandy
